Objectives of STTPs:

With the increasing demand for suitably trained researchers from the pharmaceutical industry, it is becoming imperative that the quality of education provided by the academic institutions keeps pace with the rapidly changing requirements of the industry. In order to train the faculty and the research scholars with the latest tools and procedures being adopted by the industry, it is necessary that short term training programs be conducted at regular intervals. The primary objective of organizing these Short Term Training Programmes by Baroda College of Pharmacy and Parul Institute of Pharmacy is to provide a platform for scientists from industry, faculty members and post graduate students to share their research and practical experiences and to enhance their knowledge and skills in important areas of Pharmacy field. STTP on Basic concepts in Formulation Development will include the theoretical aspects as well as practical knowledge in the field of Formulation Development. The STTP is designed to provide participants with an intensive learning experience that caters to the academic and experiential needs of the pharmaceutical industries.

STTP on Trends in Pharmacological Research has been organized with a view to update the research scholars and faculties with the recent trends observed in Pharmacotherapy of various diseases as a result of ongoing research activities in Pharmacology. The program will also acquaint the participants with the latest procedures and methodologies of research followed in basic and clinical Pharmacology.

In the present era of Globalization, maintaining quality plays vital role & hence one must be thorough with the basic & latest guidelines so as to provide the best quality. The STTP on Quality system, GMP and validation, is organized highlighting the approaches to be taken in to consideration for maintaining quality.
